

Floating Free in Space Much Like Swimming Under Water

(Second in Series)
By DOUG WALKER
Dayton Journal Herald Staff
DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—I floated in air.

Free floating, without touching anything but air, I could flip over, glide, stand on my head, or just lie there all with a feeling of perfect security.

I can hardly believe it myself, but it happened during my trip into space.

The people at Wright Air Development Center (WADC) who made my space journey possible and safeguarded me along the way say I am the first non-government attached civilian to free float at WADC.

Bob Doty, chief Journal Herald photographer, along to take pictures, became so fascinated he donned a helmet and became the second non-military man to do so. Actually it happened 10,000 feet above the earth in the cabin of a C131B aircraft.

Weightlessness—or zero gravity—is one of the items spacemen must deal with.

It can be duplicated partially on the ground with "frictionless platforms," and by passing an electrical charge through the head to disrupt the equilibrium.

But by performing a complicated maneuver in the air, it can be duplicated completely for a short time.

Believe me, it's out of this world.

We tied down all the movable equipment so it wouldn't float around in the airplane.

The pilots—Capt. Neal Garland and Capt. John Simon—were strapped in their seats.

Capt. Edward L. Brown, in charge of the operation, was strapped down or floated along with me during the flight.

The padded cabin of the plane is about 25 feet long, 8 feet wide and 6 to 7 feet high.

To become weightless, the plane started a dive at 12,000 feet. At about 250 knots airspeed it pulled up to a 35-degree climb.

During the pullup, it underwent a two and a half G force which pushed me down on the floor of the airplane as I lay there, waiting to become weightless.

It then arced, hit zero Gs, and I floated.

I pushed off with my feet against the wall on the cabin and went sailing forward through space. I would have sailed on into the front window of the airplane, but Capt. Brown grabbed me as I went by and pushed me back the other way.

The plane completed its arc, I settled to the floor and was pushed down again as the plane pulled up at a force of one and a half to two Gs.

We laughed about floating through space, it struck everyone in the plane as being funny. It looked so foolish and out of place.

Yet it seemed so natural to be floating, and there is a feeling of security about it. There is no fear of falling.

It's like swimming under water, but in air there is a great deal more freedom. The average person can do any type of acrobatic stunt at zero gravity.

Capt. Brown curled into a ball and simply spun through space. I tried a few spins. Sometimes I was upside down and could not tell which way was down.

Without gravity any way might be up.

You can float and it's fun, but you might choke on a glass of water. The water might float up your nose.

A cup of coffee will float off in little gobs of liquid. If you try to tighten a screw with a screw driver, you will probably turn and the screw remain stationary.

A person could start spinning in space and not stop. If you begin a glide, you cannot stop unless you hit something.

They have some answers at WADC, and still are working on others.

The care and feeding of spacemen is possibly the first problem.

Lt. Col. William R. Turner, chief of the respiration section, physiology branch of the aeromedical laboratory, displayed a tube that resembled a tooth paste container.

Food or liquids could be stored

SLIGHT OF HAND—Just a drop in the bucket himself, this sleepy Chihuahua puppy is simply too tired to take his bottle in Lake City, Fla. Though he weighed but two ounces at birth, the two-week-old has a mighty name—Pablo Romando Chihuahua VanZile Peacock.

in such a tube and squeezed into the mouth. Compressed foods in "lipstick" tubes that are pressed into the mouth also could be used.

Everything must be enclosed, or tied down, or else it may float away.

In making repairs, the spaceman must be strapped down, possibly at several points in order to operate a screwdriver.

After weightlessness came the eerie silence of space and the crushing heat of reentry.

Now I was driving through the abject blackness of space—isolated from the world—in dead silence.

I was sealed in an anechoic chamber—a room about 7 feet wide and 14 feet long.

There is a refrigerator, chair, toilet and cot. Primarily the chamber is for testing purposes, to find reaction to isolation.

I lay on the cot listening and staring into the total blackness. I thought I could see my hand, although knowing all the while there was no light.

Never before had I known such silence. Ultimately, I want to sleep.

What kind of man will be able to endure the silence and loneliness of space?

WADC scientists have learned quite a bit from the men who stayed in the dark, silent room for as long as a week.

The mind tends to wander in solitude. In absolute quiet with no light, there is not much to do but think. Some of those who have been alone in the room talk a great deal, others remain silent.

Some endure it, others get out. (Next: Scorching ReEntry)

Some Still Say, 'I Remember Dobbin'

So auto insurance rates are going to be boosted again.

And President Ike is going to plaster another cent a gallon on the federal gasoline tax.

And there are legislative rumblings about boosting the state gas tax, too.

The price of cars was notched up a little higher this year, as usual.

It wouldn't be so bad if you never had known anything else. But some still say, "I remember Dobbin . . ."

Old Dob ate grass all spring and summer, with oats thrown in for additive, to give him that getaway oomph. In winter, he ate dried grass, which was cheap and indigenous. It didn't have to be piped in from anywhere via interstate commerce.

He was easy to park. You unhitched him if you were going to be gone awhile. Otherwise, you tied him to anything he couldn't drag away, maybe a horse block carried in the buggy.

If you felt bushed, you tied the reins around the whipsocket and told Dobbin to "go home." He went, setting his own pace. Most Dobbins always set their own pace. Urging them to hurry was a waste of breath.

There were no head-on collisions. Occasionally, a horse kicked up his heels or bolted, but there was no fatality toll for holiday weekends in the era of the Dobbins. No one went much of anywhere, but on the other hand there was no hurry about getting back.

There was no tax on hay, no tax on oats and no tax on grass. Dobbin, himself, was good for 20 years if he didn't spavin or founder.

And if a driver got lonesome, he could have a heart-to-heart talk.

The automobile is here to stay. It's basic transportation, a prestige symbol, a sign of the times — and a bigger pain in the pocketbook every year.

Berlin Would Be Worse Than Sarajevo

Whatever may have prompted Foreign Minister Gromyko to compare the potentialities of tension in Berlin with the tension that erupted in Sarajevo in 1914 and caused World War I was not a happy thought for a Russian leader.

The Serb student nationalists who killed Archduke Francis Ferdinand in 1914 were not the cause of World War I. They were an excuse to precipitate a clash between Russia and Austria, with the latter pressing the issue.

The issue was not the death of an archduke but control of the Balkans, and Russia, as it was to turn out, was caught short. When World War I ended in 1918, Russia had gone through a revolution and been forced to its knees by Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey in the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk.

There were no winners in World War I or World War II. The 20th century tragedy that began at Sarajevo in midsummer of 1914 continues to this day in the crushing burden of armament that must still be borne after two great wars and an uncertain peace which sometimes appears to be little more than a truce.

Perhaps Foreign Minister Gromyko is able to believe another Sarajevo would be no threat to his government but would injure only Russia's adversaries. If so, he is the only one able to believe it.

There would be no winners in World War III, either. Every participant, including the nations that claimed the victory, would lose more than it could afford to lose, and chief among them would be modern Russia, whose shaky government would have collapsed in World War II had it not been for the assistance it received from its Western Allies.

There would be no Western Allies in a conflict over Berlin.

There would be only another Sarajevo—starting place for a world disaster that would hurt Russia as much as Russia could hurt its enemies. It is hard to imagine what made Foreign Minister Gromyko think of such a spooky term of reference. Every Russian should be scared stiff.

Is Money On Its Way Out

Beginning early next year, a controversial adjustment to the credit-card idea will be tried by various restaurants in Wisconsin and Washington whose proprietors will charge 5 per cent service charges on dinners using cards. The proprietors explain they will be trying to recover the commission they must pay the issuers of the credit card for the service they perform.

They have a choice between raising prices for all patrons, to recover the cost of credit-card commissions, and charging the cost directly to the users of the cards.

This suggests the possibility that cash customers may be put at such a marked disadvantage if credit-card society continues to grow by leaps and bounds that they will be forced to join it because they can't lick it. The axiom that everybody must pay for credit whether he uses it or not will attain dimensions not dreamed of until recently.

Gresham's law about bad money driving out good money will be modified to say that credit drives out cash. There is no likelihood that the credit card will quit growing in popularity. One large hotel chain now does half of its business on credit-card billing. Besides restaurants and hotels, oil companies, airlines, railroads, auto rental services and American Telephone & Telegraph Co. are carrying on the practice.

Even banks are getting into it. Chase Manhattan Bank of New York City on Dec. 1 announced charge account credit. Cardholders receive one bill from the bank a month. Creditors receive cash at once for all sales slips presented at the bank, paying fees ranging downward from 6 per cent, depending on volume.

It is conceivable that in less than a generation a tot may be born in this country who ever will see money. When he goes to kindergarten, he will get his first credit card and thereafter his signature will carry him to his grave, unsoiled by filthy lucre.

Good Township Move

Perry Township trustees have expressed faith and confidence in a zoning plan for the township by agreeing to name a commission or committee to study the proposal.

They, like the Area Development Council which originally urged the zoning survey by professional engineers, realize that the merits of zoning far overshadow what could be said against it. But the trustees know, too, that it will require funds to get a zoning plan like the one recently put into effect in the city of Salem and township funds are limited.

The trustees' action to name a committee is a step in the right direction. In the meantime, perhaps the necessary funds will be forthcoming.

Do not worry. Elvis may be the Army's secret weapon. Anyhow, a word of sarcasm about him will get you a flood of abusive letters.

It is okay to criticize the President, Gen. Norstadt, the secretary of defense, De Gaulle, Dulles, Churchill and NATO but to put the knock on Elvis Presley in a cold or hot war is sacrilegious, libelous, unconstitutional and dirty pool.

So just relax. There is no truth in the story the draft board is now rejecting anybody who can't sing or wiggle.

Push-Button Warfare

Goings-On In Orange County

By Westbrook Pegler

I have received a form letter from a New York lawyer thanking numerous citizens who congratulated his client for killing a union racketeer. I was one of the many who wrote the client to that effect.

The client is Malcolm R. White, president of a small manufacturing company in Orange County, N.Y., on the west side of the Hudson River.

He plugged a professional criminal and ex-convict with a pistol and left him dead in the road after the bum had driven him frantic with picket lines and other harassment. This happened on Nov. 13 and White has been bound over to the grand jury and may even go to trial for some degree of homicide.

In a decent community, a trial jury would not even leave the box except perhaps to mooch a couple of free meals from the greasy spoon on county expense. However, Orange County, which includes the United States Military Academy, is a rotten county, long infested by loathsome parasites holding credentials from the unions of the sanctimonious George Meany's American Federation of Labor.

It was the scene of much rumpus Joe Fay's depredations in the construction of the Great Delaware aqueduct. Most contractors in this phase of public construction are as crooked as the hoodlums who shake them down, but Frank Hogan, the district attorney of New York County, by dogged prosecution, landed Fay in Sing Sing and, later, in Dannemora, for 10 years, for extortion. Most of these contractors developed acute, galloping bashfulness, but Hogan got enough evidence to bust that situation after a long, hard fight.

IN THE FINAL PHASE, who showed up on Fay's appeal to the Supreme Court but the holy man of the U. S. Court of Appeals, Harold R. Medina, the old bore who goes around the country now shooting off his bazoo about his great courage in presiding over the trial of the Communist first team in the federal district court.

He was so brave that he went surrounded by armed guards night and day for months, but this expression of admiration for my hero takes me astray from the fact that when he was in private practice, he received an enormous wad of money for handling Fay's appeal. I had some trifling part in the Fay case myself and we cut Medina's ears off, and tried them and stuck them down his throat. Though I have written him often, I have never been able to nag him into a disclosure of the means by which he satisfied himself that Fay's money wasn't tainted. Al Scott of Hogan's rackets bureau, agreed with me that our hearsay was that Medina got $50,000. My lawyer friends insist that a lawyer has no obligation to ascertain that the money he receives from a crook is clean. But, granting that, I retort that Medina put himself on the spot when he had the gall to heave up in a pulp it as lay preacher to admonish the fold to make sure that they didn't accept any doubtful dough.

ALL THIS IS well within the general situation surrounding the public service performed by Mr. White in killing Alfred Dugan after Dugan had pursued White's car up a lonely road near Chester, N.Y.

Because notwithstanding the disclosures made in these dispatches by dint of hundreds of hours of hand-hewn, leg-work performed in person and not by any phony "staff," it came out years later that Fay was holding court in a private office adjoining the chapel at Sing Sing where he received George Meany at least twice and Arthur H. Wicks, the lieutenant governor of New York.

Tom Dewey, then governor, hove him out of the job for that, but Wicks got himself re-elected to the state senate on that very issue. That went to prove that the human race has a curious appetite and that is why I misdoubt Mr. White's chances in Orange County of receiving the acclaim which he deserves.

Wicks went on the radio after Dewey blasted him and explained that there were two governments in this country, the lawful constituted government and the union rackets. Therefore he had to go to Sing Sing to get things ironed out by orders of a criminal doing ten.

I HAVE HOUNDED MEANY to tell me why he made those home-visit and I have needled Father Hesburgh, of Notre Dame, to explain how he could hang that pewter bottle-cap, the Laetare medal, on Meany, all this considered. But Meany sent me word by his press agent that he wouldn't even let me in his office and Hesburgh doesn't answer my mail.

Mr. White's lawyer, David Targ, said in the form letter under White's name: "It is good to know that so many Americans have raised their voices in my behalf and I would like to express my deepest thanks to each one of them."

When he beats this rap I will try to organize a chicken-wing banquet for White at the Waldorf, of course (where else?) and bend him stoop-shouldered with a medal as big as a hitching post.

Dugan's racket had no AFL-CIO charter, but that means nothing. Fay had a hundred of them.

International Finance Is Encouraging

People sometimes complain that the run of the news in the world is pessimistic or unfavorable and that certainly there must be some good news somewhere. Today there is news of a decidedly encouraging nature but it will not be so obvious to the average reader because it happens to concern the complexities of international finance.

When, as was made effective this week, the British pound sterling is freed from some of the restrictions by which it is exchanged with the currencies of many of the countries of Western Europe as well as with the United States and Canada, it is an event of transcendent importance. When also, as has just been announced, the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund together increase their loanable funds by 15 billion dollars, it's like launching a powerful missile on the economic front of the "cold war."

Not only does all this mean increased opportunities for exports and imports all around but the very fact that several nations in Europe are to come together in what is called a "common market" to reduce trade barriers and tariffs is in itself a milestone on the road of recovery from the effects of World War II.

The Western European nations now feel strong enough to promote what ultimately will become a single economic unit patterned after this country. The idea of a "United States of Europe" has long been advocated as one way to strengthen the economy of smaller countries which cannot go it alone.

THE BIGGEST significance, therefore, attaches to the fact that Western Europe is able now to initiate economic and currency reforms.

This represents a triumph for those officials in the Truman and Eisenhower administrations and those members of both parties in Congress who have insisted ever since the close of World War II that Europe could be put on her feet only through continued aid by the United States, symbolized by the Marshall plan of 1947.

The policy has proved successful. Those of us who remember the failure of the United States after World War I to recognize that the seeds of a future war were being sown in the economic and financial chaos that enveloped Central and Western Europe now see a point of view vindicated as essential steps are being taken to prevent a third world war.

The strengthening of the economy of Western Europe has far more than just material implications. It means that the bulwark against a third world war has been strengthened. A stronger economy in the whole of Western Europe gives the Soviet Union a rival in every sense.

It means that there are 65 million persons banded together in Western Europe who have the skill and the know-how and the financial resources to increase their productive capacity and to improve their own standard of living through wider trade relationships with other countries.

History marks out clearly the turning points in the economic progress of the world and one of the sure signs of improvement is when currencies are stabilized so that exchanges of goods are easier to accomplish.

WHAT HAS just happened in Europe affects not only France, which has strengthened its monetary unit — the franc — but Great Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

On top of all this comes the Washington announcement that the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund have provided an additional buttressing of European currencies as well as those of Latin America and other countries in the free world.

Investors everywhere will now furnish more billions as they buy the bonds of private projects, knowing that the various governments have established through the World Bank the available resources to guarantee the ultimate payment of such private loans.

Best of all, the Soviet Union is put on notice that it must do something for its satellites or else face the intensification of pressures within East Germany, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Bulgaria.

These countries will become restive as they see their neighbors — also small countries — thriving in the new economic era.

If there is uneasiness in the satellite countries, it will be reflected inside the Soviet Union.

To sum up, Western Europe is today on a firmer economic basis than at any time since the end of World War II in 1945 and becomes a stronger competitor in world trade than at any time since 1939. American capital will build more plants and make more investments in Western Europe.

The effect of all this on the Middle East, on Southeast Asia and on Japan and the Far East will slowly but surely be felt in those areas because they are interrelated with Western Europe's currencies.

It is more important than ever that the United States maintain a balanced budget and a stabilized dollar. The news on the whole is decidedly encouraging for the people of the free world.

Farewell to Weather

By TRUMAN TWILL

I have too much mental scar tissue to be naive about weather any more, but while every is post-mortem 1958 I want to nib in with a closing insult!

"The weather was lousy."

There may be meaner ways to say what it was, but "lousy" comes to mind when I think of all the summer days when rain fell, sometimes in torrents, sometimes in drizzles, sometimes in mists — but always.

The rainfall made the grass grow. Precipitation became a dirty word by midsummer.

When the grass quieted down after the first hard freeze, which was premature and knocked off everything that was good-looking, there were only a few short weeks until it began to snow. The ground at our place has not been in sight since the Friday after Thanksgiving.

I have plowed and shoveled more snow this winter than the entire road-clearing crews of border states like Tennessee. Between bouts with snow, I have worked out heroically on the coal pile and the ash heap.

All the projects I had lined up for winter Sundays have had to be put off indefinitely because the ground is frozen stiff and everything is locked fast in snowdrifts or ice floes.

All of which is leading up to the only new year resolution I can think of that is worth making at my stage in life.

I do hereby resolve that I will not ever again expect anything but

So They Say

The Chinese race is now stirred to its depths. Its passive religions have been suppressed in favor of vigorous activism. . . . The whole country is being transformed at a fantastic rate.

the worst from the weather, being of sound mind and therefore convinced it does not pay to court disappointment by looking forward to anything else.

When good weather ensues, if it does, it will come as a pleasant surprise — a boon, a morale-builder, a free ride and an unexpected pleasure.

Christmas Day this year, for example, was an unexpected pleasure — as nice a day as anyone could have dreamed about. The sky was blue, the sun was bright and warm and the snow just right for a Christmas card effect. It wasn't supposed to be that way, but it was.

And that brings up the subsidiary clause in my New Year resolution:

I do hereby resolve that I will not ever again, except on pain of physical injury, lend my ears or my eyes to any weather reports appearing in daily newspapers, on television and radio, or in magazines, where so-called long-range forecasters purport to tell what is going to happen for the next six weeks.

Weather cannot be predicted on a local basis, which is the only basis that matters. There is not, therefore, anything to be gained by adding to climatic complications as such the mental confusion of meteorological guesswork. I do not care what it is going to do in Cold Toes, Minn., or Hot Flashes, Ariz.

It will be better just to expect the worst locally from day to day, feeling happy when something better than the worst materializes.

With this thought, I leave 1958, which was lousy weather-wise and no bargain otherwise. I do not expect 1959 to be any better. I it is, I will leap with joy.

New Car Sales Affect U.S. Economy

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE
(NEA Staff Writer)

Every time you spot a '59 car, give a cheer.

Whether we are headed toward vigorous expansion of the entire economy or merely coasting along on a pretty even keel is heavily dependent upon how you, the consumer, in coming months, accept the new car models.

If this statement sounds drastic, consider the following facts intended to show the importance of automobile sales to our economic health:

One out of every six businesses in the U.S. today depends on automobiles. Fat years or lean, automatically speaking, don't just affect General Motors, Ford or Chrysler, they spell prosperity or no more than 700,000 businesses—most of them small, ranging from retail automobile stores to car repair services, gas stations, parking lots, drive-in theaters and motels.

THINK OF THE companies that supply the car makers. In 1957 when 6,100,000 passenger cars were made, they consumed close to 19 per cent of the nation's total steel output — 44 per cent of all sheet steel made. Those cars used close to 64 per cent of all natural synthetic leather made, 196 million square feet of glass and many, many more raw materials.

Insurance and finance companies are heavily dependent upon the automobile industry. The volume of automobile insurance, for instance, has increased three and a half times since 1946, standing at 4½ billion dollars in 1957, the year finance companies lent 16.7 billion to help some 65 per cent of all car buyers finance their car purchases.

Considerable federal and state tax money comes from the automobile industry. Say you lived in Michigan and bought a new $2,500 car in 1957. Of that total amount $591.69 was tax money. In that year all 48 states together collected 2.9 billion dollars from gasoline tax receipts.

LOCAL AND URBAN highway tax receipts in 1957 totaled 3 billion. Special motor user taxes, that is taxes on licenses, motor fuels and such, contributed 29 per cent of total state tax revenues. Additionally the federal government reaped 3.5 billion in excise tax money from motorists.

To the experts 1959 looks like a good, but not a record year, for car output. The big question is this: Will it be a 5½ million or a 6½ million passenger car output year?

The U.S. Department of Commerce is predicting on the low side. It bases its prediction on a method which relates new car sales to households, relative automobile prices and the number of cars scrapped. With a 2 per cent to 3 per cent increase in prices, they see but 5½ million in car sales for next year.

More optimistic is the National Industrial Conference Board. It relates new car sales to the number of spending units in the U.S., the level of income and the change of income from the preceding year. If 1959 income rises at the same rate as it did after the 1954 recession, N.I.C.B. expects we'll be buying approximately 6,600,000 cars. This surely would be a big upward swing from the current low of 4½ million cars sold this year.

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

This apparently exclusive report that indignation has gone out of style was deliberately held up by this column to avoid watering down your Christmas cheer. An outpouring of protest may be a high-buttoned shoe sensitivity. But this tale of nine families with 18 children — in holiday week made bleak because their breadwinners fight for their rights — should be told. I write of unemployed men, made jobless because they fought a local union barony. They are not workless and payless for lack of skills. They are strong men who can handle massive cranes.

They spent the pre-holiday days at quickie odd tasks. One sold puppies in a pet store at $5 a day. Another delivered Christmas packages for a few hours at $1.25 for each back — breaking 60 minutes. Others found laborers' work where ever they could — and some couldn't. Their families ate less. I could tell you their names. But one will do. He is Bill Wilkins, one of the "boys" who hit the beach at Salerno and walked in the rain through valleys of death.

HE WOUND UP in a Nazi prisoner of war concentration camp so the swastika would not wave for a $1,000 years. He is one of the jobless.

For five years I have watched him battle the machine controlling the Long Island Operating Engineers Local 138.

Bill was with me on the air the night I stopped a glass full of concentrated sulphuric acid. He wept at my hospital bed because he had left me an hour too soon.

But there have been no tears for Bill Wilkins and his good companions though they have fought so hard and so long — and have had at their side, from time to time, the McClellan committee, the national AFL-CIO leaders, the courts, the clergy and the labor board.

But such are the laws of the land that the local union boss, Bill DeKoning, Jr., can control a union hiring hall and he is not one to regard his enemies even at Christmas time.

So once more the embattled men began a weary march to the forces of the state. Yet in this season of holiday compassion I wonder not at their angry fight.

I WONDER NOW at the rock hewn, iron hand in the iron glove — William DeKoning of the Operating Engineers. He is their enemy. He is the symbol so many have fought in controlled local unions across the land. Change the names. Change the sets. The play's the same everywhere in local such as this one.

I wonder only that the public forgets and lets men fight alone. I wonder only at the rank-and-file of scores of locals who forget an old labor chant that an injury to one is an injury to all.

Nor is this wonderment eased by a report the other day I received from friends in Connecticut. In that state the Legislature passed a law requiring all unions to file annual financial reports. Some 600 unions reported. It was presumed that the rank-and-file would be consumed with passionate interest in what happened to their money.

TOWARDS THIS year's end I checked. I was told that of the tens of thousands of workers, only one man came to inquire. I thought of the words of Mr. Labor himself, AFL - CIO president George Meany.

Not too long ago he hit the union convention circuit. He spoke thus: "In finding the answer from our trade union point of view we must look at the problem and say: How did these things happen?"

"I tell you why they happened. They happened because the unions got away from the members or the members got away from the unions. . . . It can't happen if union membership meetings are fully attended and if reports are made periodically to those meetings. . . .

"We've got to find some way to bring about an attendance of the workers at the meetings of their unions . . . there is something fundamentally wrong in the approach to the trade movement by some of the people who have come into it in recent years. . . . If the concept is that the union is some sort of business entity and you pay your dues to it and then look to results, then . . . people who are dishonest and have motives of their own . . . will come in and take over. . . ."

Doesn't anybody care?

COLUMBIANA

B & N Trucking Firm Is Sold To Commercial Motor Freight

COLUMBIANA — Launched in 1922 as a partnership, the B & N Transportation Co. is winding up its existence today. Effective the first day of the new year, it will become a part of the Commercial Motor Freight Co. of Columbus, marking the end to sale negotiations which had been conducted since May of 1952.

All but three of the 25 employees of B & N will go to work for Commercial. Most will be transferred to the Youngstown terminal. Some will go to Wheeling, and two to the East Liverpool terminal.

Bert Dickinson, vice president and general manager of B & N, indicated that rising operating costs and competition from the large truck lines brought on the sale.

B & N was organized in 1922 by Herbert Nolan and Charles Buzard, and was incorporated in 1927. Expansion began during the thirties, with the heretofore local operation commencing to do business with many connecting lines. Dickinson said the firm eventually reached the point where gross annual revenue totaled about a half million dollars.

Commercial Motor Freight will not operate a terminal in Columbiana. It is expected to offer for sale the terminal facilities acquired in the purchase of the local firm. B & N rolling stock will report to various Commercial terminals at the end of the day instead of returning to Columbiana.

Dickinson will serve on a consulting basis with Commercial for a brief period, then will take a rest before re-entering the trucking field. Nolan, president and treasurer of the local company, has been ill and inactive in the firm's operation recently.

John F. Brown, B & N dispatcher, will become a supervisor at the Commercial Motor Freight terminal in Youngstown. Regis Boring, claims agent, will become the manager of the Commercial terminal in Wheeling.

GEORGE SEEDERLY, chairman reminded of the third annual Watch Night services to be held at 11:30 p.m. tonight at Grace United Church. Laymen from the Methodist, Grace, Presbyterian, Lutheran and Brethren Churches will participate in the program of music and meditation.

Some Soil Bacteria Could Grow on Mars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some simple forms of earth life can live and grow on Mars, an Air Force scientist reported today.

Now the question is: Can some useful forms of life be grown in Martian-like soil, perhaps to provide food for visiting earthmen.

That, at any rate, is one direction or future research, said Lt. Col. John D. Fulton of the School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Air Force Base, Tex.

Some forms of soil bacteria have been shown to live under conditions similar to those on Mars, Fulton told a meeting at the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

These soil bacteria are the kind that help convert basic soils chemicals into plant food.

In Fulton's laboratory, these bacteria were introduced to a different sort of world.

To create his Mars-on-earth, Fulton created an atmosphere of pure nitrogen with just about a twelfth the pressure we know on earth.

For soil, he tried two types—red sandstone rich in iron oxide from Texas, and some lava type soil from Arizona's Painted Desert.

Temperatures were made to vary from 75 degrees below zero at night to 70 degrees above zero in the daytime.

Simulating the dry Martian climate, he provided only about 1 percent moisture.

Into this strange world, Fulton introduced two kinds of bacteria: those which could live with or without oxygen, and those which could not tolerate oxygen.

He found that both kinds not only survived for the length of the experiment—10 months—but they also grew and reproduced, although at a slower rate than under normal earth conditions.

California Man Sails Half Around World

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "Never again," says handsome 34-year-old Peter Tangvald after a harrowing one-man sailing voyage halfway around the world. "It is too much for one man."

He should know. He sailed his 45-foot wooden yawl Windflower from West Mersey, England, to Long Beach, on the Southern California coast.

The 13,000-mile voyage took more than 14 months and nearly cost the Los Angeles design engineer his life.

He battled mountainous seas for four days in a hurricane, sailed 31 days without spotting another sign of human life, spent 48 unbroken hours at the tiller during a heavy fog without sleep, food or water, and broke two fingers which he banded himself.

The bearded mariner was following in the footsteps of his ancestors. He is of Norwegian descent and started sailing when he was 14.

He hadn't planned to make the trip alone. His wife Lillemore accompanied him from England to France in the fall of 1957. Rough weather on that shakedown cruise led her to fly home to California.

The Windflower covered the 3,100-miles from the Canary Islands to Antigua in the West Indies in 31 days. The sailor says this is the second fastest time on record for a sailing vessel.

Did he get bored? No, he was too busy working 14 to 16 hours a day. His sleep—eight hours a day—came in naps of two or three hours each.

Despite his "never again" remark, the solo voyager adds: "It was a great adventure."

Theisler's wound required 11 stitches. Called as a prosecution witness, Theisler testified he was sleeping on the rifle range at the time and could not say if Grant had hit him or not.

North Carolina State Defeats Cincinnati by 69-60

Oscar Robertson Hits 29 Points

Michigan State Tops North Carolina 75-58

By The Associated Press
Mighty Cincinnati and North Carolina have bitten the dust. It happened Tuesday night when top-ranking Kentucky and powerful Kansas State barely escaped with one-point victories. If those two had fallen, it would have been a night of disaster for the four leading teams in college basketball.

Cincinnati, No. 2 nationally behind Kentucky, was racked up 69-60 by fifth-ranked, once-beaten North Carolina State in the semifinals of the Dixie Basketball Classic at Raleigh, N.C.

Unbeaten Michigan State, No. 7, upset fourth-ranking, undefeated North Carolina 75-58 in the other semifinal.

Michigan State and N.C. State will battle for the title tonight.

N.C. State jumped into a quick lead and held it to upset Cincy and All America Oscar Robertson, who scored 29 points. Big John Richter of Philadelphia scored 26 points for the victors.

Unbeaten Kentucky had to weather a scoring spree by surprisingly tough Illinois in the last four minutes to scrape past the Illini 76-75. Sid Cohen scored 23 points to pace the Wildcats to their 10th victory.

Big Bob Boozer racked up 32 points, including the vital ones, in leading third-ranking Kansas State to a come-from-behind, 67-66 victory over fired-up Colorado. The win gave the Wildcats the Big Eight Tournament championship at Kansas City.

Mississippi State's unbeaten, eighth-ranked quintet trounced Memphis State's defending champions 73-55 in the finals of the Sugar Bowl championship at New Orleans. Bailey Howell was the big man for the Maroons with 28 points.

Other tournament champions crowned Tuesday night included Ohio University, Miami of Ohio, Providence, Michigan, Penn State, Louisiana State and Furman.

Ohio whipped Utah State 80-72 in the All-American City tourney at Owensboro, Ky. Miami of Ohio edged Miami of Florida 89-87 in overtime in the Hurricane tourney at Miami Beach. Providence won its own invitational meet by downing Boston College 67-60. Michigan racked up Detroit 93-68 for the Motor City title at Detroit.

Penn State beat Richmond 61-54 in the Richmond Invitational.

LSU battered Mississippi 69-55 in the Gator Bowl final at Jacksonville. Furman topped Southwestern Louisiana 80-74 in the windup of the Watauga invitational at Johnson City, Tenn.

U.S. Team Cops Davis Cup

Alex Olmedo Bests Ashley Cooper

Brisbane, Australia (AP)—Alex Olmedo, a modern, racket-swinging miracle from far-off Peru, recaptured the Davis Cup for the United States today and in the process shattered Ashley Cooper's world amateur tennis throne.

In a fantastic exhibition of poise and court craftsmanship, the 22-year-old national collegiate champion from Southern California smashed the Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. champion 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6, to send the coveted cup back to America for the first time since 1954.

The final count of the Challenge Round was 3-2. Barry MacKay of Dayton Ohio, was beaten by Mal Anderson in the final singles 7-5, 13-11, 11-9. This was an anticlimax, for Olmedo, practically an unknown here, had clinched it when he whipped Cooper.

It was Alex who sent the U.S. hopes soaring when he gave them the first point with a victory over Anderson, then teamed with Ham Richardson to send the Americans ahead again in the doubles with a victory over Anderson and Neale Fraser after the Aussies had tied it when Cooper licked MacKay.

Finally, it was this young son of Peru—the first foreigner ever to represent the United States in Davis Cup competition—who squashed the world's greatest and brought the cup back to the United States.

Five years U.S. residence qualified him for the American team.

After winning the final game at love, Olmedo rushed into the arms of 70-year-old Perry Jones, the U.S. captain, who has been his benefactor and tutor since he arrived in the United States. It was the wily Jones who insisted that Olmedo be made a member of the team over the objections of some members of the cup committee.

The Aussies had been overwhelmingly favored to retain the trophy they won seven of the past eight years. This was the greatest upset in the history of Davis Cup competition.

PACKS WEIGHT — Whatever luck Syracuse has against Oklahoma in the Miami Orange Bowl on New Year's Day largely depends on the generalship and passing of its QB Chuck Zimmerman.

Warriors End Boston Celtics Win Streak

By The Associated Press
Boston's long winning streak has come to an end today and now Philadelphia is the hot team in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.

The Celtics' torrid run as stopped at 11. It took the resurgent Warriors to handle the job at Philadelphia 112-105 Tuesday night in the second game of a double-header. Minneapolis beat Syracuse, 118-113, in the first game. Philadelphia now has a four-game win streak.

Boston's loss and a New York victory over Detroit, 93-90, cut the Celtics' lead over the runner-up Knicks in the East to 3½ games. Syracuse is 8½ games back and threatened by Philadelphia 9½ off the pace.

In the fourth league game Tuesday night, St. Louis' Hawks whipped Cincinnati for the seventh straight tie, 119-104. This boosted the Hawks' lead in the Western Division to 6½ games over Detroit's Pistons.

Paul Arizin, the 30-year old Philly veteran who passed the 10,000 point mark Tuesday night, scored 35 points in leading the Warriors again. Bill Sharman (26) and Bob Cousy (25) topped the Boston scorers.

Minneapolis broke a four-game losing skein and stretched Syracuse's losing spell to five. Syracuse Coach Paul Seymour played the game under protest after officials disallowed a field goal by Al Bianchi late in the first half. Dolph Schayes of Syracuse was top gun with 30 points. Dick Garman was high for the Lakers with 27.

Ken Sears, New York's leading scorer, and Richie Guerin each racked up 24 points in pacing the Knicks to victory.

Cincinnati led St. Louis at half time in the contest at Cincinnati. But then Bob Pettit went to work to boom the Royals. Cincy's Jack Twyman got 19 of his 20 points in the first half. Then Pettit was assigned to Twyman and he stopped the Royal cold. In addition, big Bob topped the scorers as usual with 25.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

Salem Varsity Basketball Coach John Cabas and Junior High Mentor Sam Prison, along with Wayne Harris and me, went to Farrell, Pa., Monday night where we saw the opening round action in the annual Lions Club tournament.

In the first game Youngstown Chaney beat Midland, Pa. 50-53 with 6-7 Ron Sabo hitting 16 points on one-handers from outside. The second game showed Farrell going down to its first loss at the hands of strong Charleroi 66-56. The winners were WPIAL champs last year and as such ranked among the top ten teams in Pennsylvania.

Two players captivated the imagination of coach Cabas. They were Movie (yes, that's his name) Smith of Midland and Jim Chacko of Charleroi. Smith is a 6-3, 210-pound center who canned 21 points while Chacko is a 5-11 guard that garnered 28 tallies.

SMITH WAS really tough around the boards. He had the knack of waiting for just the right time to put up a shot after he fetched a rebound while Chacko drove Farrell crazy with his dribbling, scoring and passing.

Chacko was an all-stater last year. Time and time again he would take off and either dribble through the entire Steeler team only to culminate his effort in a two- or three-point pass to an open teammate. It was quite obvious why he was proclaimed all-stater in 1957-58.

I was not alone in thinking of how nice it would be if Salem's Clyde Marks and Lou Slaby could maneuver under the boards the same way Smith did. He'd come out for a hook shot and fake Chaney's Sabo out of his sweat socks then would follow through all the way underneath for an easy goal.

The competition underneath the backboards in the Farrell-Cougar game was pure havoc. Ten players banged heads, elbows and fought like bears for a rebound. The officials, Pete Gallo and Tut Melman had a busy night.

MOST TEAMS increase on their defensive efforts when behind near the end of a game. This is seen on a press when it's imperative the trailing team must score. This type of rugged defense goes on all the time in Pennsylvania action. Teams concentrate on defense as much as offense.

Chaney will probably be the only one of the four teams Salem has a chance of meeting this season. The Cowboys threw a zone against Midland and with better coaching the Leopards could have cracked it wide open. Chaney's players just stood around and proved stationary defenders rather than aggressive defensemen. Many times Midland's men could or should have driven through but didn't.

Chaney showed a fine offense. They used a fast break as much as possible. They moved the ball fast and played for an open shot out front following rapid single and double screens. George Simsted's team must be reckoned with. Not only do they have Sabo but also Marty Pesut and Clark Avery.

IT'S REASONABLE to assume

United Wins 6th; Beats Irondale 60-51

Irondale High made 50 per cent of its shots last night while United High hit on 40 per cent but it didn't stop the unbeaten Golden Eagles from registering their 6th straight of the season as they topped Irondale 60-51.

Jim Summer was the big man for Bob Penrod's winners with 11 goals and four fouls for 26 points. Gary Lindesmith aided the victors with 15. Boggs had 19 for Irondale who is now 3-3.

United led 35-27 at the half and 52-39 after three frames.

The Golden Eagles will try to make it seven in a row this Friday at home with Randolph.

United's JVs won last night whipping Irondale 38-35 behind a fine 14 - point performance by Jim Ernst.

2-Platoon's Return Predicted by Coach

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Coach Bob Woodruff of Florida predicted today that the American Football Coaches Assn. would vote overwhelmingly next week to return to unlimited substitutions.

"But whether the Rules Committee will accept the idea is another question," said Woodruff, who is here for the Sugar Bowl game.

The Rules Committee, which meets after the coaches convene in Cincinnati Jan. 6-8, has been known to come up with some surprises, such as last year's radical change in the point after touchdown rule.

In Woodruff's opinion, professional football has done a terrific selling job, and built up a wide national TV following.

"I think the colleges have got a good game too, but we have got to get out and sell it, or go to unlimited substitutions," he said.

College football as now played with limited substitutions has become a conservative, low-scoring game in the main. Pro football is full of high-scoring razzle dazzle with unlimited substitutions and specialists for every kind of assignment.

Saxon Lanes Bowling Alley To Begin Business Jan. 15

The Saxon Lanes Bowling Alley on Railroad St. will be open for business beginning Jan. 15 at noon, manager John Hendron announced today.

Hendron and chief mechanic Joe Vogelhuber have just returned from three-week training period in Shelby where they learned of the latest mechanic devices used in bowling.

Beginning Jan. 5, the Saxon Lanes will be equipped with new machines designated to help experienced and beginning kегlers alike. The latest A.M.F. pinspotter machines on each of the 12 alleys at the Lanes will be equipped with a new resistor added to the assembly chassis. This will enable the manager at the control center to operate a "shadow ball" for league bowlers. It will also be used to a great deal in teaching beginning bowlers.

Reservations for league bowling for the 1958-59 season may be made by calling Hendron at either ED 7-8094 or ED 8-9238.

Big Ten's Basketball Climbing Heights

By The Associated Press
Big Ten basketball stock reached new heights Tuesday night despite a split in the four games played by conference teams.

Michigan State, one of the favorites in the title race which opens Saturday, defeated previously undefeated North Carolina, 75-58, in semifinal play of the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N.C.

Michigan won its first holiday tournament championship by trouncing Detroit, 93-68, in the Motor City Classic at Detroit and Illinois gave Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 team, scare in dropping a 76-75 decision to the Wildcats at Louisville.

Only Wisconsin filed to impress as the Badgers were beaten by Butler, 69-55, at Indianapolis for their sixth loss in eight games.

Michigan State meets North Carolina State tonight for the Dixie Classic championship and Northwestern takes on Notre Dame at Evanston. Ohio State plays Brigham Young Thursday night at Columbus. All teams will rest Friday before going into conference action Saturday.

Ohio State's Center Lost for Two Weeks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Howard Nourse of Springfield, Ohio State's 6-foot-7 basketball center, will be lost to the team for about two weeks as a result of a fractured cheek bone.

Coach Fred Taylor said he will move 6-5 Joe Roberts into the spot to back up regular Larry Huston in Thursday night's home game with Brigham Young and in Saturday's opening Big Ten test at Illinois.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS L. LIDE

I had occasion to visit the Berg Pretzel Company in Leetonia recently to contact Mayor Ralph Kennedy, the manager.

Waiting on the Mayor, I was permitted to look the plant over and to see how the potato chips, pretzels and what-have-you are processed and packaged.

I noticed a certain amount of wastage on the floor such as popcorn and pretzels. I inquired if the waste was put to good use such as for feeding birds. I learned that many of the employees took home the sweepings for the birds but Olive Wolfgang was the gal that had all the birds in the neighborhood attracted to her feeder. One of the employees told me this and I believe it.

ANYONE thinking rabbits are scarce should take time out and check the tracks in the snow. You will find the tracks leading to the nearest groundhog hole, a pile of stumps or in ravines where the farmer has discarded bed springs, sones and such to fill in the ravine.

Actually, rabbits are not scarce from all the surface evidence. Suppose the nocturnal animals decided to make a survey of human beings.

They would jump in their cars and drive for miles and miles through the townships and villages plus the highways and by-ways looking for people in the night time.

THE CONCLUSION would be that very few people inhabit Columbiana County. Naturally people aren't visible as they are home in bed or working the midnight shift. So the animals would be wrong in their conclusions.

By the same token, hunters take to the fields in quest of the cotton-tails and rout very few. The conclusion of the hunter is that we have no rabbits. This conclusion is wrong.

The tracks in the snow lead to varied places of security in which the rabbits can never be taken by legal methods.

Suppose we had a shooting war and bombs were falling everywhere. Do you think you would see people on the streets or in evidence anywhere? Certainly not. They would be in their cellars, down in the canyons left by the canyons left by the strip mines or actually huddled in an underground mine... any place to escape the bombings. Incidentally, the canyons and waste land left by the strippers might be a God-send in the case of an atomic war. That is the best I can say for them.

SO, THE RABBITS seek shelter where shelter is available after the hunting bombardment once gets underway. Otherwise, if they were dumb animals and sat out in the open waiting for some hound dog to sniff them up or for some hunter to flush them under foot, then many more of them would be exterminated.

Fortunately, that is not the case. Don't worry, we will have a sufficient brood stock left over for next year.

We have more rabbits than people. I will estimate that of the 12,000 hunting licenses sold, the hunters took home an average of 5 rabbits per hunter. That means 60,000 rabbits were bagged.

Surely there is another 60,000 left for seed.

Now, take this or leave it. Some sportsmen clubs buy 200 or 500 rabbits from out of state. The amount of rabbits you stock, plus the price you pay for them is absolutely insignificant. Our game experts say they die after importation.

Mount Union Drubs Denison in Tourney

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Mount Union won the Ashland College Invitational Basketball Tournament Tuesday night by capturing an easy 91-77 victory from its Ohio Conference rival, Denison.

Two former Ashland boys were the high scorers. Jim Diffendorfer scored 27 points for Denison and Dave Brubaker had 24 for Mount Union. In the first round Mount Union beat Ohio Northern 93-73.

The consolation game went to Ashland by an 81-72 score over Ohio Northern. Both are Mid-Ohio League members. In the first round Ashland lost to Denison, 85-80.

Hawkeyes, LSU, TCU, Sooners Favored to Win Bowl Contests

By The Associated Press
Wyoming, Louisiana State, Iowa, Oklahoma and Texas Christian are favored to win the major bowl games in college football's final big fling Wednesday and New Year's Day.

Wyoming (7-3) is a 3½ point choice over Hardin-Simmons (6-4) in the Sun Bowl, which has the spotlight to itself today. This 24th annual affair will lure about 15,000 fans at El Paso, Texas. Kickoff time is 4 p.m. (EST).

The big guns start firing on Thursday before about 343,000 "live" fans and millions of television viewers around the country. Louisiana State (10-0), the nation's No. 1 team, the only major college all-winning outfit, and the "Team of the Year" in The Associated Press year-end poll, is a 15 point choice over the Clemson Tigers (8-2) in the Sugar Bowl.

If Coach Frank Howard's Tigers knock off LSU it will go down as the most shocking bowl upset since Columbia stunned Stanford 7-0 in the 1934 Rose Bowl contest.

A crowd of 82,000 will see this one at New Orleans. It will be telecast by NBC (2 p.m. EST).

Iowa's Big Ten champions (7-1-1) are 18 points favorites over California's Golden Bears (7-3) in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

A crowd of 100,000 is expected to see a wide-open contest with Iowa's speed demons led by All-America quarterback Randy Duncan and Cal paced by quarterback Joe Kapp.

This is the second half of an NB TV doubleheader. Starting time is 5 p.m. (EST).

Oklahoma's deep Sooners (9-1) are rated 12½ points over the Syracuse Orange (8-1) in the Orange Bowl at Miami. The ninth ranking New Yorkers are a team bent on a mission. An upset of the fifth-ranking Oklahoma would help ease the memory of the 61-6 shellacking Syracuse absorbed from Alabama in this same Orange Bowl in 1953.

A crowd of 76,000 will be on hand at Miami for the TV game CBS, 1 p.m. (EST).

Texas Christian (8-2) is the 8 point favorite over the unbeaten, once-tied Air Force Academy Falcons in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

This game will be telecast by CBS following the Orange Bowl clash. It will start about 3:30 p.m. (EST) with about 75,000 fans on hand.

In a minor bowl Thursday, Prairie View of Texas (8-0-1) meets Langston of Oklahoma (4-3) in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, before about 10,000 fans. Kick off is set for 1 p.m. (EST).

Nixon, Brown, Naragon Ink '59 Indian Contracts

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' catching corps is signed up for the 1959 season.

They are: Russ Nixon, 23, of Cincinnati, who played in 112 games and batted .301 last year, his seconds in the majors.

Dick Brown, who was in 67 games and hit .237.

Hal Naragon, who was optioned to San Diego last May and remained there until September, when he saw some service with the Tribe as a pinch hitter.

That makes 17 players who have been announced thus far as signing contracts.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

LITTLE LIZ

It's too bad that exercising a bad temper doesn't improve it.

Question and Answer

- Q—Why were early prospectors of gold-rush days known as "Sourdoughs"?
- A—From their practice of carrying over a lump of sour dough from each biscuit baking to start fermentation of the next batch.
- Q—When did the United States abandon the practice of making treaties with the Indian tribes?
- A—In 1871. Treaties made prior to that time are still recognized.
- Q—Who was the first U.S. woman civil service employee?
- A—Mary Frances Hoyt Moses. She died in 1958 at the age of 100.
- Q—Is Franklin D. Roosevelt the only man ever to have been nominated three times for the presidency by the Democratic party?
- A—No. William Jennings Bryan and Grover Cleveland were both nominated by the party three times.

New Year's Advice

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Advice to celebrators:

This is the night of opportunity — the opportunity of living to see New Year's Day dawn.

Many won't make it. But you can. All it takes is a little care and forethought for the next 12 hours or so.

Then careworn old 1958 will be behind you, and you'll be alive and eager—well, alive anyway—to face the challenge of the brave new world of 1959.

Many people honestly want to survive New Year's Eve, but don't know how. Here are a few tips for the careless liver:

Sell your car this afternoon. If you sell it, you can't drive it to a party tonight.

If you can't sell your car, lend it to a neighbor and let him drive it to whatever party he's attending. If someone has to get into an accident, better him than you.

Take an airplane trip to Europe. Statistics prove there are fewer safer places on New Year's Eve than aboard a commercial plane flying over an ocean.

Has your doctor been bothering you for years to have your tonsils or an ulcer cut out? Why not have the operation done tonight? The nurses would rather welcome you as a routine patient than an accident case.

If you are a serious drinker, be proud. Remember, New Year's Eve is for the amateurs. Stick to ginger ale this night. Then you can have the fun of watching the beginners make fools of themselves.

If you are the last to leave the party and are walking home, don't cross in the middle of the block. In fact, don't cross any street anywhere. Just walk around the block until the sun comes up.

Personal safety suggests you avoid discussing the following topics at a New Year's Eve party: National politics, baseball, football, sex, and such questions as who's the prettiest girl in the room. Topics you can feel free to give your views on include the weather, income taxes, and why hasn't the government done more for the whooping crane?

Some people feel the urge to adventure with weird new drinks at New Year's Eve parties. If this temptation overwhelms you, try vodka and epsom salts. It is non-habit-forming, and you will wake up Thursday with a clear head.

The best thing of all to do is to stay home, toss the cat out at 10 p.m., bolt and lock the doors and windows, take a sleeping pill and go to bed. You are not only safe from all forms of revelry and personal tomfoolery — you can't even be hit by lightning.

Happy New Year's Eve. See you Thursday.

County Fines Total $156,172 In Year

LISBON — A total of $156,172 was received in fines in Columbiana County during the year 1957, according to I. J. Vorndran, county auditor, who notified the various courts as to the amounts due the county law library.

A sum of $7,500 will be turned over by the courts to the library by municipal, police and mayors' courts from fines, penalties and forfeits recorded during 1957 and payable in 1959.

The following is a breakdown in amounts collected and sums due the law library:

East Liverpool $60,965, due $2,927; Wellsville $12,731, due $611; Salem $24,731, due $1182; East Palestine $4512, due $221; Lisbon $31,972, due $1,535; Washingtonville $7,314, due $351; Columbiana $5,205, due $250; Leetonia $3983, due $191; Hanoverton $3223, due $154; Salineville $703, due $33; New Waterford $558, due $26; Rogers Summitville imposed no fines and $268, due $12.

Therefore does not have to pay the library.

Lisbon Kiwanis Club Will Meet Friday

LISBON — Frank Mason, manager of the Thomas Works of the Delta Star Electric Co., division of the H. K. Porter Co., will be the guest speaker when the Kiwanis Club meets Friday noon at the Eagles' dining rooms.

The regular meeting usually held on Thursday, was set for Friday because Thursday is New Year's Day.

Dr. Ray Weaver, new club president, will preside.

Dr. Weaver announced that the board of directors will meet for the first time Jan. 8 in the Farmers National Bank. All committee chairmen are asked to attend.

Franco Asks Dismissal of Removal Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Youngstown municipal judge who can no longer practice law in Ohio has asked the State Supreme Court to dismiss a suit demanding his removal from the municipal bench.

Judge Frank R. Franco asked for the dismissal Tuesday. He had until Thursday to answer the removal action or face ouster proceedings.

Franco has been indefinitely suspended from practicing law because of unethical acts.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe filed an action with the Supreme Court requiring Franco to show by what right he occupies the bench. In his answer to Saxbe's suit, Franco said the suspension did not require him to resign as municipal judge. The high court overruled Franco's objection and set Thursday's deadline for an answer.

Franco said Tuesday that his case is now pending before the U. S. Supreme Court and that he cannot admit or deny the allegations against him until the federal court acts.

The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that judges are required by law to maintain their status as members of the legal profession and that indefinite suspension is ground for removal.

Franco was elected to a six-year term ending Dec. 31, 1960.

74 Million to Be Hit With Tax Increases

WASHINGTON (AP)—American workers will pay higher Social Security taxes starting Thursday, and more than 12½ million persons now receiving benefits will get larger checks.

Before the year is over, the tax increase will have affected an estimated 74 million workers, not all of them employed in any one period.

The tax rate goes up from 2½ to 3½ per cent on the first $4,800 earned, effective with the first paycheck received in January. The tax currently applies to the first $4,200 of annual pay.

It is estimated that about 15 million covered workers will have to pay the maximum 27 per cent tax increase during 1959. Their levy will jump from $94.50 to $120, due to the combination of increased rate and higher taxable salary base.

Employers will pay the same increase as the workers, making the total Social Security tax run 5 per cent instead of 4½ per cent.

The rate for self-employed persons goes up from 3 to 3½ per cent, also on a $4,800 taxable base. An estimated 1½ million will pay the maximum 27 per cent increase.

On the benefit side, a retired worker now getting the maximum of $108.50 a month will receive $116 a month, effective with his first 1959 check delivered during the first week in February. At the bottom of the scale the retired worker getting $30 will get $33.

Municipal Unit Plans Revision Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A subcommittee of the Ohio Municipal League will meet again within two weeks to draw up a proposed revision of a state statute which spells out the formula for determining a public utility's rates.

The revision will be submitted to the Legislature and, if adopted, would tend to keep future rate increases at a minimum, said Fred Pickens, Columbus Utilities director and a spokesman for the subcommittee.

Pickens said, however, that the change would have no effect on present rates.

The Utilities Legislative Subcommittee, with representatives from five cities, met here Tuesday on the heels of action by the Utilities Commission granting Ohio Bell Telephone Co. a 6 to 20 per cent rate hike, effective Thursday, revisions—although nothing concrete—were made.

The proposed revision, he said, would affect a law setting forth the formula which utilities must follow in computing their rate base—that is, the value of a utility's property on which rates are based.

The present formula, which Pickens said was favorable to the utilities, provides for depreciation to be subtracted from the reproduction costs of new equipment.

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP) — The city's first fatal traffic accident in three years had cost the life of Lawrence A. Buss, a Mount Blanchard poultry dealer. He died Tuesday at the Ohio 18 crossing of the Nickel Plate railroad when a work engine hit a truck driven by his son, Gerald, 17.

FIRE GUTS BUILDING

DiSalle Is Displeased With Insurance Hike

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gov.-elect Michael V. DiSalle is displeased with the outgoing state administration for granting an increase in auto insurance rates just before leaving office.

DiSalle told a reporter for the Columbus Ohio State Journal Tuesday one of the first acts of his incoming insurance superintendant, Edward A. Stowell, will be to study the increase. But DiSalle said once the rates are established "roll-backs create many difficult problems."

Stowell said the rate hike "seems to have some implications. It looks like they may be giving them enough of an increase to last for four years."

DiSalle said it would have been better "if the matter had been deferred until we had a chance to look at it. Anything like this in the dying days of an administration is always suspect, even if there are good grounds for action."

DiSalle said also he is considering splitting the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction into two separate agencies. The Democratic-controlled Legislature would have to legislate such a change.

"I don't believe we have kept pace with penal developments," said DiSalle. "There is a definite relationship between mental hygiene and correction . . . but I don't believe that relationship is sufficient to justify keeping them in the same department."
